

Important Daylight Savings Time Announcement

Have you heard about the changes to Daylight Savings Time in 2007?

The Federal Government has mandated changes to its DST policy that effectively increase the observance of Daylight Savings Time by nearly a month in 2007.

Although embraced by labor and industry alike, these changes will obviously create some challenges in the realm of computing, electronics and automated control. Among these industries reside countless articles of embedded firmware that have been programmed to the previous standard.

Likewise, the newly proposed and soon to be enacted changes, will affect many users of Keri Systems Access Control, IEI Controllers, CCTV Recording Systems and Telephone Entry Systems, as DST is generally programmed for automatic adjustment. Since these adjustments for DLS are normally done automatically by the system controls, there will need to be upgrades made to accommodate these changes. In several cases there are no upgrades available for some equipment, but there are solutions to resolve this matter.

Please contact us at your earliest convenience to discuss how this may affect your security control systems. Our staff is ready to assist you with information and solutions.
